Ongoing Work Toward Personal Mastery – Rev. Bryan Jessup

“Our growth and deepening in wisdom and compassion is a life-long process. All along the way our development depends on our own openness and effort. A professional cello player I met once said: ‘In speaking to a grade-school class, I told them I had a relationship with my cello for five decades – and one of the kids replied, “Gosh, I’ve only had a relationship with my cello for five weeks.”’ The work for mastery starts right where we are.”

Sunday, October 12 – 9 and 11 a.m. To be announced

Sunday, October 19 – 9 and 11 a.m. Many Approaches, One Mission – Sheri Graham-Whitt, Rev. Bryan Jessup

Of the religious journey, the Hindus say: ‘Many paths, one mountain,’” says today’s speaker Sheri Graham-Whitt. “The ‘mountain’ for the Hindus is enlightenment and harmony with the Mystery of Life. A huge part of our ‘mountain’ or ‘mission’ as a Fellowship is the same. Two other huge parts are creating a supportive religious community and working together to shape our world toward justice. For all of the aspects of our mission, deep listening is of utmost importance. In this service, Sheri Graham-Whitt will talk with us about that kind of listening.”

Sunday, October 26 – 9 and 11 a.m. The Art of Studentship -- Karen Harris, M.Div.

Live as if you were to die tomorrow. Learn as if you were to live forever. -- Mahatma Gandhi. We are most alive when our minds and hearts are open to new experience, in short, when we are learning. How can we awaken the spirit and practice of life-long learning? How can we cultivate fresh inspiration to digest what we have learned, and then put our new wisdom into practice? Drawing on her own extensive experience as both a student and a teacher, Karen will share stories and wisdom gleaned from a lifetime of passionate learning.
