

Sunday Services

Sunday, March 2 – 10:30 a.m. We Are All In This Together – Rev. Bryan Jessup

Rev. Jessup will discuss a world view that embraces other people and all things living as part of a shared mystery that opens our hearts to reverence and respect. The service will refer to Parker Palmer, who says that seeing other people as one with us is a habit worth developing for the sake of our future on the planet.

March 9 – 10:30 a.m. A Sunday of Music.

Elisabeth Harrington, Levi Walls and the choir will bring us an amazing Sunday of musical inspiration. Music Sunday is a Humboldt UU Fellowship tradition and it puts a song in all of our hearts.

March 16 – 10:30 a.m. An Intentionally Diverse Fellowship – Rev. Bryan Jessup

Every Sunday in our Fellowship we affirm our intention to be welcoming of diverse people. The way we make that intention real, Rev. Jessup says, is by carefully listening to one another's needs and by carefully making room for those needs to be met.

March 23 – 10:30 a.m. In Your Dreams – Rev. Jeremy Taylor

The Rev. Dr. Jeremy Taylor will talk with us again about tending to our dreams as a spiritual practice. In our sleeping hours, our subconscious paints pictures, makes movies, plays songs and whispers to us about what is really happening in our lives. When we open our hearts and minds to our dreams, they open deep insight to us.

March 30 – 10:30 a.m. Committing to My Fellowship – Rev. Bryan Jessup

The Humboldt UU Fellowship was founded in 1953 by people seriously committed to growing their own spirits, building a supportive religious community and working to make justice real in their own lives and the world. Nothing less is required of us now, Rev. Jessup reports, as together we create the next chapter in this Fellowship's story.
